Water conservation request lifted for Hanapepe, Eleele

HANAPEPE – The water conservation request for all Hanapepe and Eleele residents has been lifted as of noon, Monday.

Power has been restored to two of the three well sites in the service area. Department of Water (DOW) officials have determined that water tank levels are keeping up with customer demand and water conservation is no longer necessary at this time.

However, the DOW is still unable to physically access two of its remote well and tank sites due to continuing high river water levels. Therefore, residents should be prepared in case a water conservation request needs to be reissued.

The DOW thanks customers for their patience and cooperation.

For more information, please call the Department of Water at 245-5455.
